

Some speculations about energy fields

Daiki: So do you think plants have auras?

An-Yi: (shrugging her shoulders) Everything has an energy field.

Daiki: But humans are built to perceive rather limited energy spectra. So much passes right by us without us noticing.

Bhāraté: (sipping some tea slowly) Hmm. Perhaps that is a mixed blessing. There are probably good reasons our perceptions are limited.

Daiki: (turning the page of a newspaper in faint disinterest) I agree. All too often, whenever humans obtain a power they misuse it.

- T Newfields

Begin: 2000 Nagoya, \triangle Finished: 2021 Yokohama

