

Let the waters be my witness: Messages about our watery world

POSTLOG

- Jules: (with a mutated, half-inebriated voice) At last – da end!
- Philyra: (shrugging her shoulders) Different things end at different times for different people.
- Andrei: Hey, count me in for some beer, Jules!
- Soo: (ignoring the men) Some of dis stuff resonated, but den what?
- Andrei: (ignoring the women) Do yah want some chips with zhe booze?
- Philyra: Though this book raised a few important themes, I can't say it's an "ecological" work.
- Andrei: (growing impatient) Forget zhe friggin' poems. Too much polemic! A few artworks were nice.
- Ellesha: (sighing) Who knows where or where alchemy starts?

- T Newfields

Begun: 2005 in Tokyo, Japan / Finished: 2019 in Yokohama, Japan

