

Crassroom Voices - Poetry, Art, & Dialogs about Education

Melissa: I think the author puts too much blame on teachers.

Liao: It's convenient to blame one social group. The truth is we share collective responsibility.

Melissa: I disagree. Teachers are as much victims of the system as perpetrators of it.

Tim: I think this whole narrative is off . . . teachers and students can both creatively rescript their lives.

- T Newfields

Begun: 2010 in Tokyo, Japan * Finished: 2020 in Yokohama, Japan

