

LEGENDS:

Some thoughts on how myths shape consciousness

Legends aren't just myths:
they're invitations to explore new worlds and discover meanings eclipsed.

Legends are not ordinary facts:
they're whispers of truths
about some believe should remain intact.

Legends serve as guides
to hidden dimensions,
helping us awaken inside.

Though ridiculed by many
and dissected "scientifically"
legends are a spiritual fabric
connecting us with collective dreams.

Nadia: We should never underestimate the power of legends.

Wan-Sze: I worry about that. What we need is more facts – not myths or legends.

Will: Humans can never comprehend all the "facts" about any topic. That's why we invent legends.

– T Newfields

Beg.: 2008 Tokyo ☆ Fin.: 2023 Yokohama