

How Weird: Out of the Box of Expectations

WORDS TO LIGHT:

Some thoughts about weirdness and virtual reality

Wan-Sze: What is this?

Nadia: I dunno. Sum ding weird, huh?

Will: Who knows? What people call "queer" is usually just unexamined.

Nadia: (Playfully speaking like a child) Uh huh. Buddu I'm too busy 'n ta examine – can we play a compu-game instead?

Will: Sure – go on. Most people are unwilling ta read poetry, even though that's what they need.

Kasim: No problem. Isn't life itself like a computer game?

Will: Yeah, in many ways (sipping a cup of coffee) ... and eventually all games end.

- T Newfields

Begun: 2003 in Nagoya, Japan ☆ Finished: 2016 in New Taipei, Taiwan

