

TIME CYCLES:

When bones begin to speak

Linda : Humans generally perceive time in very anthropomorphic ways, don't they?

Ron : Of course. Why be prolix about it?

Linda : (gazing at the image, then muttering to herself) Bones have a lot to tell us if we look closely.

Lex : If we have enough patience, so many things start to speak.

Lis : Perhaps that is why oracle bones were used in ancient China?

Ron : (with a noncommittal voice) Well, perhaps.

- T Newfields

Beg.: 1996 Maui Fin.: 2022 Yokohama