

LAST POEMS: LOST POEMS

FAITH IN SPRING: A vernal affirmation

Believe in awakening - have confidence
in each spring

As part of a great cycling, trust in the un-
foldment and development of every being

Nothing is ever wasted

Nothing grows
alone

We are part of one vast garden

& connected to each other - no particle stands alone

Have faith
in evolution even if yar garden is in disarry - in time some seeds will discover an optimal way

Ron: (raising his eyebrows) This is at the edge of incomprehension.

Lex: Good. That's where discoveries lie.

Linda: (with a cynical tone) "Lie" seems like a particularly apt expression. . .

Lis: How so?

Linda: Because if people only half-comprehend what's going on, they are easily misled.

- T Newfields [Nitta Hirou / Huáng Yuèwǔ]

Begun: 2005 in Tokyo, Japan / Finished: 2018 in Yokohama, Japan

Creative Commons License: Attribution. {{CC-BY-4.0}}

