

Wraite-ta-Read

unread warks argh like seedz whach never take root - perched an the plains ah eternity they argh paragons ah obsolescence knick-knacks ah what nut ta do writers must be word hawkers - und shore their ideaz uppenly a manuskript isn't komplet e til its ideaz ure expressed sozially rotting iz a social act - an ungoing dialog ta ward aff idiocy

by shuring wards
ideaz teek root un blozzum in mindz unseen

Jack: Why use such queer English?

Shu: (smiling) Why do you think?

Jack: Out of boredom?

Juanita: Could be ... Isn't looser spelling an invitation ta loosen the mind?

Ella: (shaking her head) All we can say is "could be." As with many things in life, certitudes are few and possibilities innumerable.

T Newfields

Begun: 1999 in Táoyuán, Taiwan / Finished: 2016 in Tokyo, Japan

