

BRAVERY:

Another Look at Courage

Go create beauty
knowing it will all fade

Go reach out to others
even when encountering indifference or hate

Go uphold core principles whether ridiculed or praised

Is that not as brave
as marching towards cannons
or walls of flames?

What's needed is
"outcome-aloofness"
& willingness to work
for a noble aim

Bravery isn't merely for soldiers –
it's for each person treasuring integrity

Resolution isn't merely for warfare –
but each undertaking
