

WITHIN A BLOSSOM:

Thoughts about flowers

Blake saw heaven
in a flower.

Linnaeus saw flowers
as signs of God's glory.

Marx saw them as marketplace commodities.

Mead perceived courtship tools and social structures.

Take a deep breath and look again:
Doesn't too much explanation
ruin experience?

- T Neufields

Orig.: 2004 Tokyo ☆ Rev. 2024 Yokohama