LAST SCENES
Some thoughts on behavioral scripting

Ying : In some ways, our whole lives are like scripted roles.

Frida : Precisely. And it seems that we are only dimly aware of the roles we are playing.

Dmiritri : (munching on some potato chips) Why this intellectualization? Isn't it a waste of time?

Satoru : Well, imagine a machine with no knowledge of its own design? To what extent would such a machine actually be 'alive'?

– T Newfields
Beg.: 2001 Nagoya ☆ Fin.: 2024 Yokohama